Drawings

3. Figure 1 should be designated by a legend such as --Prior Art-- because only that which is old is illustrated. See MPEP § 608.02(g). Corrected drawings in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. The replacement sheet(s) should be labeled "Replacement Sheet" in the page header (as per 37 CFR 1.84(c)) so as not to obstruct any portion of the drawing figures. If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

4. Claims 1-13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Sawahashi et al (WO96/42146) (Sawahashi et al (US 6,137,788) is being used as a translation of WO96/42146).

Regarding claims 1, 3 and 8-13, Sawahashi discloses a receiving apparatus and method shown in figure 5A. The matched filter 211 makes a cross correlation of the received spread signal with a spreading code for each path (column 13, lines 35-37). This occurs in each branch shown in figure 5A. In the second branch, a signal replica is eliminated in subtractor 204-2. After the subtraction, a delay profile (phase variation) is created based on the correlation value in the matched filter of this branch and the preceding branch (column 13, lines 37-52). The resreader 217-2 respreads the signal of each path outputted from the channel variation adding unit 216 with a spreading code in phase with the reception timing of each path (column 13, lines 52-55).

Regarding claims 2 and 4, figure 5A shows numerous replica signals (user signals) will be removed from the received signal and the delay profile will be update for each branch of the receiver.

Regarding claims 5-7, Sawahashi discloses the signal replica is eliminated from the delayed signal in element 204 as stated above. A subtractor is functionally equivalent to inverting the replica signal and adding the inverted signal to the delayed signal.

Conclusion

5. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Uesugi et al (WO99/44319) (Uesugi et al (US 6,526,271) is used as a translation of WO99/44319) discloses a disspreading receiver that recovers individual users and subtracts the recovered signal from the originally received signal to remove interference (abstract and figure 1).
